Re: Patent Application Entitled: A Method and System
for Providing Jewelry Insurance

To Whom it May Concern:

We bring to your attention that this firm filed a U.S. patent application entitled "Method and System for Providing Jewelry Insurance" listing Peter J. Malnekoff as the inventor. The application as filed has 64 claims and has method and system claims. Prior to filing, we commissioned a search of the prior art using a self proclaimed "Patent Buster" to search both patents and other published material. This art has been submitted to the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office.

The application was filed with a "Petition Not to Publish" meaning the prosecution of this patent will not be open to the public. As such, any liability will not accrue until the claims of the patent issues. We advise our client to obtain a non-disclosure agreement (NDA) with any company or individual who wishes to discuss the pending patent application and business methods claimed therein prior to patent issuance. However, at the time of issuance, the patent application owner plans to hold discussions with any entity conducting business that is covered by the resulting business method patent claims.

If you wish to discuss the application or related licensing opportunities, please contact Mr. Peter Malnekoff at 888-461-5777 or via email at peterm@diamondinspector.com.

Best regards,

William J. Kramer

Re: Patent Applications

To Whom it May Concern:

We bring to your attention that this firm filed a U.S. patent application entitled "Method and System for Providing Jewelry Insurance" listing Peter J. Malnekoff as the inventor. The application as filed has 64 claims and has method and system claims. Prior to filing, we commissioned a search of the prior art using a self proclaimed "Patent Buster" to search both patents and other published material. This art has been submitted to the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office.

In addition, we filed two continuation-in-part applications entitled "Method and System for Providing Insurance Using an Input/Output Device" with an additional 74 claims.

We filed each application with a "Petition Not to Publish" meaning the prosecution of these patents will not be open to the public. As such, any liability for infringement will not accrue until the claims of the various patents issue. We advise our client to obtain a non-disclosure agreement (NDA) with any company or individual who wishes to discuss the pending patent applications and business methods claimed therein prior to issuance of the patents. However, at the time of issuance, the owner of the patent applications plans to hold discussions with any entity conducting business that is covered by the resulting business method patent claims.

If you wish to discuss the application or related licensing opportunities, please contact Mr. Peter Malnekoff at 312-218-0070.

Best regards,
